

AUSTRIA AND WAR

Great events often are little noted at the time. The biggest news, so far as its impact on world history, which has taken place since the end of the War was the announcement of the terms on which Austria is to be re-established as a "free" nation in central Europe.

This is true in spite of the fact that few newspapers gave this part of the Paris Big-Four conference more than passing mention, and public attention was centered on the more dramatic but infinitely less important developments in the Berlin situation. In the Australian discussions, Russia scored the biggest gains she has made since Crimea. The international idealism of the United States, which rose to its high-water mark during the days of Woodrow Wilson, sank to its lowest ebb.

AND, STILL MORE SIGNIFICANT, ABUNDANT SEEDS WERE PLANTED OUT OF WHICH THE THIRD WORLD WAR MAY ARISE.

This article is not a prediction. It merely attempts to appraise facts. It would be foolish to say that out of the mistakes and appeasements just made concerning Austria, a new European War will rise within five years, or ten, or a generation. No one can tell. But on the other hand, gross and serious misbalances were created which, if they are not soon corrected, will forever prevent any real peace on the European continent.

Few people know much about Austria. One wonders what the textbooks teach! The fact of the matter is that Austria, ever since the days of Caesar, has dominated both the geography and the history of Europe. Some of the time, she dominated the politics as well.

Met as individuals, the Austrians are pleasant, likeable individuals—alert, often gay, fond of music and fine arts. Their mountainous land, their colorful native garbs, their customs—all these are picturesque in the extreme. Possibly the world has no better vacation playground.

Yet there is nothing playful about the history of Austria. Probably no other nation has had more to do with war. In two thousand years, Austria has never been far removed from armed conflict. In a single 400-year period, 1945 to 1895, Austria is said to have engaged in no fewer than 7000 battles.

Austria was the rooting ground of World War I. For years before 1914, she plotted with Germany for expansion into the Middle East, the assassination of the heir to the Austrian throne, by Serbians, in the little town of Sarajevo.

Austria produced Adolf Hitler—he was Austrian by birth. And the turning point in German history which swung the earth into the path of World War II was Hitler's demand that Austria—detached from Germany by the First World War—be reunited with it.

Accident rather than design, or rather than the deliberate intention of its people, is the factor which has made Austria a twenty-century firebrand in Europe.

One accidental factor is that Austria, rich in mineral bearing mountains, lacks arable ground to raise her own food. She must import or starve. From the earliest days of European history, this has been the case. She has been a commercial nation—a barterer rather than a buyer and seller; but one thrown in contact, sometimes in conflict, with her neighbors by simple economic needs.

The other accidental factor is that Austria lives at the cross-roads of Europe. Draw a line north and south through the center of the continent, and another east and west. One of these lines is the traffic from northern Europe to Italy and the Mediterranean, moving through Brenner Pass and other crossings of the Alps mountains. The other line is the oldest, and still the greatest, artery of transportation in Europe—the Danube river.

Where the two lines cross—there lies Austria. Most of us know the Danube as inspiration for the world's most famous waltz. But the Danube ranks among the world's most important rivers. Three fourths of the way across Europe it stretches—fifteen hundred miles of navigable water from Regensburg, Germany, to the Mouths of the Danube on the Black Sea. Actually, by canals and river-improvements, man has made it possible to go on up this stream and penetrate, through the Rhine, clear to the English Channel.

Control of the Danube River has long been the bone about which the dogs of war have fought in the Balkans. Determination that Russia would control the Danube, and that the stream not be internationalized, (as many a peace-planner, including Woodrow Wilson, has held to be the one safe remedy)—this determination has written a great deal of the Balkan policy of Russia.

Russia has sought persistently to grab the Danube from its mouth to Vienna—to grab it directly when she could, through satellites which she failed. Her quarrel with Tito in Yugoslavia has far less to do with ideologies than it does with the fact that his secession from the Soviet group broke a chunk of the Danube nearly 200 miles long out from under Russian control.

The "deal" which Roosevelt and Stalin made, somewhere between

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Paris conference of the Council of Foreign Ministers confirmed the correctness of this country's foreign policy and the necessity of pursuing it "with calmness and determination." President Truman said yesterday after having received a report from Secretary of State Acheson.

The Soviet press called the conference highly successful and hailed reactivation of the Council and lessening of international tension. Yugoslavia denounced the agreement on Austria, saying she never would renounce her claims for territory and reparations. In Berlin, the City Assembly reacted by demanding that the Western sectors be admitted to the West German state. Western authorities in the city urged rail workers to accept the terms of the Soviet-zone directorate and end their strike.

Secretary Acheson, impressed by Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's interest in Asia, was believed working on a definite United States program for China and the Far East.

Defense Secretary Johnson, calling for "long-range military readiness" to meet Soviet "aggression by treaty or by force," disclosed that two Essex-class carriers would be modernized with some of the money

TO PREPARE PLANS FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Pennsbury Joint Board To Apply To State For Necessary Funds

MAY COST $1,000,000

FALLSINGTON, June 22—Plans are to be prepared for a new junior-senior high school but construction of the proposed building will depend upon the result of application to the Pennsylvania State School Authority for funds.

The Pennsbury (Pa.) Joint Board of Education Monday night authorized funds for the drawing of plans for a proposed junior-senior high school building. The architect firm of Mickelwright & Mountford was retained.

Forrest C. Jones, president of the board, made it clear that the action was for plans only. Actual construction will depend upon the outcome of the board's application for funds to the Pennsylvania State School Authority.

The board is looking forward to having the new school available for occupancy in September of 1951. It is estimated the building will cost $1,000,000 and it will house children of the 7th grade up, permitting the return of the Yardley, Lower Makefield and Falls Township buildings for elementary grades.

Nolan Wants To Be Burgess Of Morrisville Borough

MORRISVILLE, June 22—Neal Nolan has announced that he will be a candidate for the office of burgess at the primary election to be held in September.

Nolan, Morrisville's tax collector, justice of the peace, and chairman of the committee protesting the Freeway bridge approaches, yesterday announced his candidacy. He reported he will start circulating petitions Saturday. Candidates will be nominated in the Pennsylvania primary on September 13 and elected on November 8.

Nolan, a Republican, plans to relinquish his justice of the peace job if he is elected. He has held this post as well as that of tax collector for 23 years.

Nolan jumped into the political scene after William Burgess, present mayor, announced that he would not be a candidate for the post he has held for the last 12 years. The berth of mayor carries no salary.

Membership on the Borough Council would not be a new adventure for Nolan. He served as councilman for four years. He also served for seven years as president of the Morrisville Fathers' Association and for a time was president of the Morrisville Rotary Club.

SAYS BRIDGE SALE MAY BE BLESSING

T. R. Hanff, Phila., Speaks To Phila. Kiwanis Club Upon The Subject

BIG REVENUE INCOME

PHILADELPHIA, June 22—It "may prove to be a blessing in disguise," is the way T. R. Hanff, Philadelphia contractor, yesterday expressed his opinion of the sale of the Burlington-Bristol and Tacony-Palmira bridges. The spans were sold last October and Hanff was one of the principal owners. He spoke at a meeting of the Philadelphia Kiwanis Club at a luncheon-meeting in the Bellevue-Stratford.

In addition to benefiting "all parties at interest," said Hanff, "the bridge transaction served a useful purpose because it highlighted the whole question of the equity and justice of using bridge toll revenues to finance other unrelated public improvements."

The effect of the publicity and charges, he continued, "has been to focus public attention" upon the use by public bodies of bridge toll revenues.

Pointing out that, according to estimates made for the Delaware River Bridge Commission by the Knapp, Tippet, Abbetts engineering firm, the two bridges will have net earnings of $39,000,000 during the next 30 years, Hanff declared:

"All toll bridges are economic barriers and they should be made toll free as promptly as possible. The reason for toll bridges is to permit the construction of transportation facilities that otherwise would not be built or would be long delayed."

Health Officer Warns About Certain Conditions

With the arrival of summer weather and the season of the year when certain diseases are likely to develop more than at other times of the year, Bristol's health officer, William A. Groff, issues a warning to the residents here to take certain precautions to prevent such diseases.

"At this season of the year all garbage cans should be kept as clean as possible and be kept tightly covered. This must be insisted upon and where violations are found the proper steps will be taken."

"We have in Bristol a few chicken yards which should at this season, even more than any other time, be kept absolutely clean, so that there will not be any objectionable odors. "I trust the residents will co-operate in this step to prevent the development and spread of disease and to safeguard the health of the community," concluded the health officer.

OFFER PRIZES

Among the prizes offered at the card and "ootie" party to be given by the teachers of St. James P. E. Church school in the parish house this evening will be: table lamp, beverage set, percolator, pair of pillow cases, bottle warmer, slippers, ear-ring and pin set, ties, bracelet, etc. The games will commence at 8:30.

Shut Off That Sprinkler!

Turn off that lawn sprinkler! That is the request of the Bristol Water Department.

Especially stop all lawn sprinkling from 5:30 p. m. until nine p. m.

Yesterday the water in the storage tanks reached a low mark of five feet, when there is usually a 20-foot level maintained.

With such a low water level a fire hazard is created, says a borough spokesman. "We request the co-operation of all Bristol water consumers." This applies to residents in Bristol and in Bristol Township. Do not use lawn sprinklers during this severe drought.

FIRST LEG, "DREAM HIGHWAY," IS NOW OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Barricades Removed Following Inspection by Highway Dept.

DISTANCE, 4.84 MILES

Future Plans Call For Extending Route North from Lincoln Highway

The first leg of the highway which has been referred to as the "Dream Highway" has been completed and yesterday was opened to traffic. This section extends from the intersection with Route 13, at west Bristol, to the Lincoln Highway at a point west of the Langhorne Speedway and east of Pennadel. It is planned to eventually extend this highway to Doylestown, where it will connect with the highway to Quakertown.

The roadway is two lanes wide and measures 24 feet in width. There was considerable filling necessary and much of the route is through farmland after it leaves Bath Road.

After surveys for the highway got underway, the awarding of the contract for the first leg, Bristol to Lincoln highway, was announced on June 25, 1948. The successful bid submitted by S. J. Groves & Sons, Co., of Woodbridge, N. J., was $831,050.40 for 4.84 miles in Bristol and Middletown townships.

Before the barricades were removed yesterday, representatives of the State Highway Department had made final inspections. Some few corrections were noted and referred to the contractor. After the contractor cares for these requirements, highway representatives will check them. Maintenance of the highway is now the responsibility of the state highway department.

For much of the distance the road was a relocation to improve grade and sight distance. The right-of-way is 120 feet in width, and the contract covered pavement 24 feet wide. The road was so designed that as traffic develops two additional traffic lanes can be laid.

Future plans of the Department of Highways call for extending the route northward from the Lincoln highway, the route being carried over the Lincoln highway by means of a bridge. At present there is a temporary connection with the Lincoln highway.

The new road will eventually connect most of the central boroughs of Bucks County in a single, direct and new high speed route. It will ultimately pass close to the following boroughs: Pennadel, Langhorne Manor, Langhorne, Newtown to Doylestown, connecting with the present roadway to Quakertown.

Construction costs of the new road were to be divided between the state and federal governments, the land-damage costs to be shared by the state and Bucks County.

Two large directional signs along the Lincoln Highway at the intersection of the new road or Route 413 point to Bristol.

USE SQUAD AMBULANCE

Bucks County Rescue Squad yesterday took Mrs. Plunkett, of Bridge-water, to Harriman Hospital, for observation; and Mrs. Whyno, Cedar street, to Abington Hospital and then to her home. Mrs. Whyno dislocated her shoulder.

ST. ANN'S BATTLES MICHARSKI NINE TO 3-3 DEADLOCK

St. Ann's A. A. and the Micharski team battled to a 3-3 deadlock last evening in a 10-inning Trenton Industrial League game on Memorial Park field. The game was one of the most thrilling of the season with several sensational plays being made.

"Dick" Holden saved the game for the Trenton team when in the last half of the tenth he raced to deep right field to make a one-handed catch of "Bert" Barbetta's liner to end the fracas. "Chuck" Klein was on base at the time and had the ball got by Holden would have scored with ease.

Manager "Spike" Scordia, of the "Saints," used two hurlers in the contest. He started "Bobo" Schulteis and replaced him with Paul Cervellero in the eighth inning. The Trenton team had tagged Schulteis for three hits and a sacrifice before Cervellero was sent in to put the fire out. All the Micharski runs and hits were made off Schulteis.

St. Ann's had nine hits off "Johnny" Soltey. They were trailing 2-1 in the seventh when a hit by Fred Barbetta, an error, and sacrifice by Cialella tied the score. In the ninth, the "Saints" were again behind, 3-2, when "Lou" Sassi tripled and scored on Cialella's bounder to short.

The first St. Ann's run was the result of a walk to Joe Elmer and triple from the bat of Bert Barbetta. The latter had two hits in the contest as did Sassi.

FRANKLIN A. C. TROUNCES ST. ANN'S

Franklin A. C. trounced St. Ann's A. A. last evening in a Suburban Softball League game on Memorial Park field. Final count of the one-sided tilt was 18-4.

The winners had 18 safe hits in the contest including home runs by Frank Barbetta and Art Massi and Triples from the bats of Fred Fields and James Brescia. Nick Paolella, Fred Fields and Anthony Capella had doubles to their credit.

Facing the 18-hit attack were Fields and Barbetta who had three hits each. The former was up five times while Barbetta stepped to the plate on four official trips. The latter also scored three runs.

"Al" Cicanti started on the hill for St. Ann's and was taken out in the fourth when "Moonie" Denny took over. Neither could silence the bats of the Franklin team, it scoring in every frame.

FLANNERY'S BATTLES WEST BRISTOL TO TIE

The West Bristol team and Flannery's Eagles of Pennel played to another tied score last evening in a Bristol Suburban Baseball League game on Township's field. Score was 5-5.

Neither of the starting pitchers, "Clint" Pursell or Earl Wagner finished the game. Miller relieved Pursell while Wagner was batted out of the box in the second inning and Foster Marsh did excellent work in relief.

"Frankie" Pursell put the finishing touches on Earl Wagner by walloping a home run with two on base after two runs had already been pushed over on a single by Massie, a sacrifice, an error, and fielder's choice.

The West Bristol team tied the game in the last half of the sixth inning. With one run in and Marsh and Heath on base, Jack Haines hit to Schreiber who errored, scoring Marsh. Heath also dashed for the plate and evaded catcher Massie but Empire Joe Kervick called the runner out for going out of the base line.

No date has been set for the replay of the game.

FLEETWINGS TAKES LEAD OF LEAGUE

Fleetwings took first place in the Bristol Industrial Softball League last evening by overpowering the Leedom's team, 13-4, on the Hunter-Wilson field.

"Dick" McKinney pitched for the automobile workers and held the Leedom team to five hits. He had fine control and issued but one pass.

Tony Gennello and Charles Simmons hit home runs for the winners while "Franny" Muth led the hitting for the rug-makers.

"Bill" Lewis' fielding helped McKinney out of several holes.

DESPITE A TRIPLE PLAY, TULLYTOWN LOSES TO 2ND WARD

TULLYTOWN, June 22 — Tullytown A. C. executed the first triple play of the Suburban Softball League last evening but bowed before the mighty pitching of "Chick" Stansky as the Second Ward A. C. topped the Tullytowners, 10-1 on the King Farms' field.

Stansky's hurling was just too much for the Tullytown lads as the Burlington youngster had 14 strikeouts and permitted three hits. Stansky fanned the first nine batters to face him. He walked the tenth and then fanned the next three batters. In the fifth, Stan Carlen slapped a hit and had another in the seventh for two of the three Tullytown hits.

The first three-ply killing of the season took place in the third inning. Stefanoni was on second and F. Sagolla on first for Second Ward. Cochran bounced to Carlen who stepped on third, retiring Stefanoni. Carlen's quick throw to first got the batter and when Sagolla attempted to make third on the base, he was put out, Roy Lynch to Carlen.

In the third inning, Gene Barbetta rapped out a home run with two on base for Second Ward while with two mates aboard in the fifth, Nate Chichiletti smashed out a homer. Cornelius Chichiletti led the batters of the game with three out of three.

AUSTRIA AND WAR

Great events often are little noted at the time. The biggest news, so far as its impact on world history, which has taken place since the end of the War was the announcement of the terms on which Austria is to be re-established as a "free" nation in central Europe.

This is true in spite of the fact that few newspapers gave this part of the Paris Big-Four conference more than passing mention, and public attention was centered on the more dramatic but infinitely less important developments in the Berlin situation. In the Australian discussions, Russia scored the biggest gains she has made since Crimea. The international idealism of the United States, which rose to its high-water mark during the days of Woodrow Wilson, sank to its lowest ebb.

AND, STILL MORE SIGNIFICANT, ABUNDANT SEEDS WERE PLANTED OUT OF WHICH THE THIRD WORLD WAR MAY ARISE.

This article is not a prediction. It merely attempts to appraise facts. It would be foolish to say that out of the mistakes and appeasements just made concerning Austria, a new European War will rise within five years, or ten, or a generation. No one can tell. But on the other hand, gross and serious misbalances were created which, if they are not soon corrected, will forever prevent any real peace on the European continent.

Few people know much about Austria. One wonders what the textbooks teach! The fact of the matter is that Austria, ever since the days of Caesar, has dominated both the geography and the history of Europe. Some of the time, she dominated the politics as well.

Met as individuals, the Austrians are pleasant, likeable individuals—alert, often gay, fond of music and fine arts. Their mountainous land, their colorful native garb, their customs—all these are picturesque in the extreme. Possibly the world has no better vacation playground.

Yet there is nothing playful about the history of Austria. Probably no other nation has had more to do with war. In two thousand years, Austria has never been far removed from armed conflict. In a single 400-year period, 1945 to 1895, Austria is said to have engaged in no fewer than 7000 battles.

Austria was the rooting ground of World War I. For years before 1914, she plotted with Germany for expansion into the Middle East, the assassination of the heir to the Austrian throne, by Serbians, in the little town of Sarajevo.

Austria produced Adolf Hitler—he was Austrian by birth. And the turning point in German history which swung the earth into the path of World War II was Hitler's demand that Austria—detached from Germany by the First World War—be reunited with it.

Accident rather than design, or rather than the deliberate intention of its people, is the factor which has made Austria a twenty-century firebrand in Europe.

One accidental factor is that Austria, rich in mineral bearing mountains, lacks arable ground to raise her own food. She must import or starve. From the earliest days of European history, this has been the case. She has been a commercial nation—a barterer rather than a buyer and seller; but one thrown in contact, sometimes in conflict, with her neighbors by simple economic needs.

The other accidental factor is that Austria lives at the cross-roads of Europe. Draw a line north and south through the center of the continent, and another east and west. One of these lines is the traffic from northern Europe to Italy and the Mediterranean, moving through Brenner Pass and other crossings of the Alps mountains. The other line is the oldest, and still the greatest, artery of transportation in Europe—the Danube river.

Where the two lines cross—there lies Austria. Most of us know the Danube as inspiration for the world's most famous waltz. But the Danube ranks among the world's most important rivers. Three fourths of the way across Europe it stretches—fifteen hundred miles of navigable water from Regensburg, Germany, to the Mouths of the Danube on the Black Sea. Actually, by canals and river-improvements, man has made it possible to go on up this stream and penetrate, through the Rhine, clear to the English Channel.

Control of the Danube River has long been the bone about which the dogs of war have fought in the Balkans. Determination that Russia would control the Danube, and that the stream not be internationalized, (as many a peace-planner, including Woodrow Wilson, has held to be the one safe remedy)—this determination has written a great deal of the Balkan policy of Russia.

Russia has sought persistently to grab the Danube by its mouth to Vienna—to grab it directly when she could, through satellites when that failed. Her quarrel with Tito in Yugoslavia has far less to do with ideologies than it does with the fact that his secession from the Soviet group broke a chunk of the Danube nearly 200 miles long out from under Russian control.

The "deal" which Roosevelt and Stalin made, somewhere between

Newportville Sunday School Observes Father's Day

NEWPORTVILLE, June 22—Father's Day was observed Sunday during the Sunday School hour in the Newportville Community Church—Presbyterian, the members of the Young Women's Class having charge.

The teacher, Mrs. Fred Wimmersberger, led in prayer, and also announced the program; Mrs. Charles Shagg read the Scripture; a vocal solo was rendered by Miss Jean Caswell; Mrs. W. Wilson read a poem, and the choir favored with an anthem.

The children from the Primary assembled on the platform and sang a few songs.

The speaker was Mr. Parker Tomlinson. All fathers were invited to come forward and all received a rose boutonniere. Rev. Dyson dismissed the congregation with the benediction.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Paris conference of the Council of Foreign Ministers confirmed the correctness of this country's foreign policy and the necessity of pursuing it "with calmness and determination." President Truman said yesterday after having received a report from Secretary of State Acheson.

The Soviet press called the conference highly successful and hailed reactivation of the Council and lessening of international tension. Yugoslavia denounced the agreement on Austria, saying she never would renounce her claims for territory and reparations. In Berlin, the City Assembly reacted by demanding that the Western sectors be admitted to the West German state. Western authorities in the city urged rail workers to accept the terms of the Soviet-zone directorate and end their strike.

Secretary Acheson, impressed by Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's interest in Asia, was believed working on a definite United States program for China and the Far East.

Defense Secretary Johnson, calling for "long-range military readiness" to meet Soviet "aggression by treaty or by force," disclosed that two Essex-class carriers would be modernized with some of the money

TO PREPARE PLANS FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Pennsbury Joint Board To Apply To State For Necessary Funds

MAY COST $1,000,000

FALLSINGTON, June 22—Plans are to be prepared for a new junior-senior high school but construction of the proposed building will depend upon the result of application to the Pennsylvania State School Authority for funds.

The Pennsbury (Pa.) Joint Board of Education Monday night authorized funds for the drawing of plans for a proposed junior-senior high school building. The architect firm of McKelwright & Mountford was retained.

Forrest C. Jones, president of the board, made it clear that the action was for plans only. Actual construction will depend upon the outcome of the board's application for funds to the Pennsylvania State School Authority.

The board is looking forward to having the new school available for occupancy in September of 1951. It is estimated the building will cost $1,000,000 and it will house children of the 7th grade up, permitting the return of the Yardley, Lower Makefield and Falls Township buildings for elementary grades.

Nolan Wants To Be Burgess Of Morrisville Borough

MORRISVILLE, June 22—Neal Nolan has announced that he will be a candidate for the office of Burgess at the primary election to be held in September.

Nolan, Morrisville's tax collector, justice of the peace, and chairman of the committee protesting the Freeway bridge approaches, yesterday announced his candidacy. He reported he will start circulating petitions Saturday. Candidates will be nominated in the Pennsylvania primary on September 13 and elected on November 2.

Nolan, a Republican, plans to relinquish his justice of the peace job if he is elected. He has held this post as well as that of tax collector for 23 years.

Nolan jumped into the political scene after William Burgess, present mayor, announced that he would not be a candidate for the post he has held for the last 12 years. The berth of mayor carries no salary.

Membership on the Borough Council would not be a new adventure for Nolan. He served as councilman for four years. He also served for seven years as president of the Morrisville Fathers' Association and for a time was president of the Morrisville Rotary Club.

SAYS BRIDGE SALE MAY BE BLESSING

T. R. Hanff, Phila., Speaks To Phila. Kiwanis Club Upon The Subject

BIG REVENUE INCOME

PHILADELPHIA, June 22—It "may prove to be a blessing in disguise," is the way T. R. Hanff, Philadelphia contractor, yesterday expressed his opinion of the sale of the Burlington-Bristol and Tacony-Palmyra bridges. The spans were sold last October and Hanff was one of the principal owners. He spoke at a meeting of the Philadelphia Kiwanis Club at a luncheon-meeting in the Bellevue-Stratford.

In addition to benefiting "all parties at interest," said Hanff, "the bridge transaction served a useful purpose because it highlighted the whole question of the equity and justice of using bridge toll revenues to finance other unrelated public improvements."

The effect of the publicity and charges, he continued, "has been to focus public attention" upon the use by public bodies of bridge toll revenues.

Pointing out that, according to estimates made for the Delaware River Bridge Commission by the Knappen, Tippet, Abbeys engineering firm, the two bridges will have net earnings of $39,000,000 during the next 30 years, Hanff declared:

"All toll bridges are economic barriers and they should be made toll free as promptly as possible. The reason for toll bridges is to permit the construction of transportation facilities that otherwise would not be built or would be long delayed."

Health Officer Warns About Certain Conditions

With the arrival of summer weather and the season of the year when certain diseases are likely to develop more than at other times of the year, Bristol's health officer, William A. Groff, issues a warning to the residents here to take certain precautions to prevent such diseases.

"At this season of the year all garbage cans should be kept as clean as possible and be kept tightly covered. This must be insisted upon and where violations are found the proper steps will be taken."

"We have in Bristol a few chicken yards which should at this season, even more than any other time, be kept absolutely clean, so that there will not be any objectionable odors. I trust the residents will co-operate in this step to prevent the development and spread of disease and to safeguard the health of the community," concluded the health officer.

OFFER PRIZES

Among the prizes offered at the card and "cootie" party to be given by the teachers of St. James P. E. Church school in the parish house this evening will be: table lamp, beverage set, percolator, pair of pillow cases, bottle warmer, slippers, ear-ring and pin set, ties, bracelet, etc. The games will commence at 8:30.

Shut Off That Sprinkler!

Turn off that lawn sprinkler! That is the request of the Bristol Water Department.

Especially stop all lawn sprinkling from 5:30 p. m. until nine p. m.

Yesterday the water in the storage tanks reached a low mark of five feet, when there is usually a 20-foot level maintained.

With such a low water level a fire hazard is created, says a borough spokesman. "We request the co-operation of all Bristol water consumers." This applies to residents in Bristol and in Bristol Township.

Do not use lawn sprinklers during this severe drought.

FIRST LEG, "DREAM HIGHWAY," IS NOW OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Barricades Removed Following Inspection by Highway Dept.

DISTANCE, 4.84 MILES

Future Plans Call For Extending Route North from Lincoln Highway

The first leg of the highway which has been referred to as the "Dream Highway" has been completed and yesterday was opened to traffic. This section extends from the intersection with Route 13, at west Bristol, to the Lincoln Highway at a point west of the Langhorne Speedway and east of Penn-del. It is planned to eventually extend this highway to Doylestown, where it will connect with the highway for Quakertown.

The roadway is two lanes wide and measures 24 feet in width. There was considerable filling necessary and much of the route is through farmland after it leaves Bath Road.

After surveys for the highway got underway, the awarding of the contract for the first leg, Bristol to Lincoln highway, was announced on June 25, 1948. The successful bid submitted by S. J. Groves & Sons, Co., of Woodbridge, N. J., was $831,050.40 for 4.84 miles in Bristol and Middletown townships.

Before the barricades were removed yesterday, representatives of the State Highway Department had made final inspections. Some few corrections were noted and referred to the contractor. After the contractor cares for these requirements, highway representatives will check them. Maintenance of the highway is now the responsibility of the state highway department.

For much of the distance the road was a relocation to improve grade and sight distance. The right-of-way is 120 feet in width, and the contract covered pavement 24 feet wide. The road was so designed that as traffic develops two additional traffic lanes can be laid.

Future plans of the Department of Highways call for extending the route northward from the Lincoln highway, the route being carried over the Lincoln highway by means of a bridge. At present there is a temporary connection with the Lincoln highway.

The new road will eventually connect most of the central boroughs of Bucks County in a single, direct and new high speed route. It will ultimately pass close to the following boroughs: Penned, Langhorne Manor, Langhorne, Newtown to Doylestown, connecting with the present roadway to Quakertown.

Construction costs of the new road were to be divided between the state and federal governments, the land-damage costs to be shared by the state and Bucks County. Two large directional signs along the Lincoln Highway at the intersection of the new road or Route 413 point to Bristol.

USE SQUAD AMBULANCE

Bucks County Rescue Squad yesterday took Mrs. Plunket, of Bridge-water, to Harriman Hospital, for observation; and Mrs. Whyno, Cedar street, to Abington Hospital and then to her home. Mrs. Whyno dislocated her shoulder.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Harry's hennings are beginning to swarm and it looks like the net is being pulled in for the first time in 15 years.

NOT that he was the first to mistake Russian caviar for red herring . . . he just followed established precedent.

But it looks like all the Reds in the country are being shaken loose except Cincinnati which appears to be entombed in sixth place.

It's hard to tell whether the Communist confessions are prompted by fear, remorse, or the free hotel services the government provided for Elizabeth Bentley.

All I know is signpainters are getting calls asking how much it would cost to add "I Was A" to the sign "Communist Bookshop."

Harry says it's all "hysteria" . . . if he means were laughing like crazy he's right.

THE GRIS-GRIS

She says she doesn't believe in voodoo, and maybe she doesn't.
But pretty Edna Boudreaux nearly fainted when she saw the grisgris on her doorstep in New Orleans one night last week, and she was unnerved by it for quite a while.

It was not the sort of thing a pretty matron expects to find on her doorstep. Two black candles, fastened together to make a cross, dolloped up with knotted string, a tuft of red-stained cotton, a curse quoted from the Bible, and 43 pins stuck into it.

In the old days when voodoo ran rampant in New Orleans, a witch doctor kept such an image by him and pulled out a pin a day. When the last pin was pulled out, the victim died.

It nearly always worked, too.
But debunkers now assert that the witch doctors took no chances of losing their power and profits.
They supplemented the charm by administering poison.

After enough people, white and black, had seen this sort of "proof" that the magic worked, it wasn't even necessary to use poison. When the intended victim was told of his selection he would give up and die of sheer fright.

Mrs. Boudreaux, though her insistence that she doesn't believe in voodoo rings a little hollow, didn't do that. Police, who suspect a bizarre blackmail racket, pointed out to her that whoever left the gris-gris on her doorstep wouldn't be able to pull the pins out of it to cause her death.

But the completely unsuperstitious couldn't be blamed for being upset if a thing like that appeared on their doorstep. It is not a repository of sorcerous powers, it is something no less evil:
A symbol of stark human hatred and malice.

THE WAITKUS CASE

Despite scores of explanations by psychiatrists, etc., the fact remains that the woman who shot Eddie Waitkus is a murderer.
And that is about as ugly a word
as there is in the language.

The nature of her crime was as cruel as it was cunning. After luring him to her room, she shot the ball player in cold blood, for no other reason than that she was infatuated with him, although she had never spoken to him in her life and Waitkus didn't know such a person existed.

Psychiatrists, etc., will make much of her case, and when the story is fully told it may disclose features about her upbringing which will create some sympathy for her. Already there is talk of a split personality, of loneliness born of a lack of companions, plus a definite tendency toward hero-worship, a modern-day curse.

What happens to the woman isn't important, and more of her kind will appear frequently, perhaps to murder. But what society is to do to protect itself from their ravages is a problem which has baffled all attempts at solution.

Herbert Hoover says the tax situation is saturated. And only a leaky umbrella in sight.

Austria and War

Teheran and Yalta, to permit Russia to occupy Eastern Austria with her own troops—behind that deal was Russia's eagerness to seize the Danube up to the important railroads at Vienna.

Back of shooting wars are trade wars. Austria has what many another power would sacrifice large armies to gain—a strategic location at the crossroads of two primary trade routes. How can she hope to stay out of trouble?

Austria presents a dilemma to the world's would-be peace-makers.
Create an Austria strong enough to hold her vantage-point against all corners—and, if we can judge from the past, presently she will be plot-ting to seize still more. Hold her deliberately down in strength—and she will be the target for all the greedy powers around her.

In the agreements just entered into in Paris, America's diplomats neither faced the realities of this problem, nor offered hope of anything but prolonged discussion and disappointment.

Whether they traded out Austria's future in a vain effort to buy a Berlin peace with Russia, as so much of the rest of Eastern Europe was traded out by Uncle Sam's diplomats in post-war appeasement of Russia—that is impossible to tell at this stage. This much is certain—Russia got infinitely the best of the deal.

Austria was confined to the frontiers as of January 1, 1938. The significance of this is that it means future turmoil and uncertainties.
The boundaries in question are the arbitrary boundaries laid down by the Treaty of Versailles—boundaries which partitioned Austria, left her inadequate for her own needs, gave some of her historic possessions to nearby rivals. Future trouble-makers will find in Austria just the same disincentives as Hitler found when he opened up the subject in 1938.

The new Austrian government is required to "guarantee to protect the rights" of the Slovene and Croat minorities within her borders. This guarantee the continuance of a situation ideal for the fermenting by Communists "disunity, dissension, and eventually, of revolution, within this now-to-be-reestablished nation.

The only nation guaranteed reparations from Austria is Russia. The total is trifling by comparison with spending standards at Washington—a mere $150,000,000 in six years. But that is a great sum, if Austria is unable to raise it; and big or small, it is sufficient to give Russia an excuse to meddle with Austria's economy at every turn. By a somewhat similar arrangement with Finland, Russia has been able to starve this once liberty-loving free race into near-subsistence.

What else does Russia get? One point has to do with the Danube river, as mentioned above. Russia got all Austrian-owned assets of the "DDSC"—the Danube Shipping Company—in Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania, as well as all the assets of the company in Eastern Austria.
Russia also gets title to all the plants, equipment and moveables which she has seized in Austria during her four-year occupation there—seized on the excuse that these were "German assets." This opens a most complicated field of discussion. As everyone knows, when Hitler "annexed" Austria, one of the first steps the Nazis took was to infiltrate all important business and industrial establishments, elbow the Austrian owners to one side, and seize the majority ownership. Robbed once by their "partners," the Germans, when the Austrians sought to repossess this loot after the war, Russia seized a great deal of it on the pretext of its being "German assets." The new agreement offers no hope that these business concerns, industrial plants and the like, will ever revert to their real owners.

Not covered by the text of the Paris communique, but announced by United States officials (see New York Times, June 21, 1949) was the further agreement that Russia is to get 60 per cent of the oil-extraction rights in the Eastern Austrian fields for thirty years; and 60 per cent of the prospecting rights for eight years of prospecting and twenty-five years of production.

Now, consider for a moment where this leaves Austria as an economic unit. She cannot raise food enough for herself—food she must buy. Her great money-maker, the Danube Shipping Company, is handed over to Russia. So in the realm of her oil-producing potential for sixty years.
So in the ownership of a great deal of her commercial and industrial establishments.

WHAT IS AUSTRIA GOING TO LIVE ON? HOW IS SHE GOING
TO EARN THE $150,000,000 "IN CONVERTIBLE CURRENCIES" DUE RUSSIA DURING THE NEXT SIX YEARS?

A hazard of another sort faces her. Assume her to be reestablished as she stood on January 1, 1938. Glance at the map and see what results.
Trace the Russian line down from mid-Germany. Note that the Eastern Half of Austria projects into the Russian orbit in a great "salient"—a salient just as conspicuous, if not quite so deep, as that created by Czechoslovakia.

Russia "let off" the Czech salient in her own good time.

HOW LONG BEFORE SHE WILL CHOOSE TO "BITT OFF" THIS NEW AUSTRIAN SALIENT?

AND, IN VIEW OF THE FACTS, WHAT REASON CAN ONE FURNISH FOR HOPING THAT, WHEN THE TIME COMES, AUSTRIA WILL BE EITHER ABLE OR WILLING TO RESIST A FULL RUSSIAN TAKE-OVER?

ST. ANN'S BATTLES MICHARSKI NINE TO 3-3 DEADLOCK

St. Ann's A. A. and the Micharski team battled to a 3-3 deadlock last evening in a 10-inning Trenton Industrial League game on Memorial Park field. The game was one of the most thrilling of the season with several sensational plays being made.

"Dick" Holden saved the game for the Trenton team when in the last half of the tenth he raced to deep right field to make a one-handed catch of "Bert" Barbetta's liner to end the fracas. "Chuck" Klein was on base at the time and had the ball got by Holden would have scored with ease.

Manager "Spike" Scordia, of the "Saints," used two hurlers in the contest. He started "Bobo" Schultheis and replaced him with Paul Cervellero in the eighth inning. The Trenton team had tagged Schultheis for three hits and a sacrifice before Cervellero was sent in to put the fire out. All the Micharski runs and hits were made off Schultheis.

St. Ann's had nine hits off "Johnny" Soltz. They were trailing 2-1 in the seventh when a hit by Fred Barbetta, an error, and sacrifice by Cialella tied the score. In the ninth, the "Saints" were again behind, 3-2, when "Lou" Sassi tripled and scored on Cialella's bounder to short.

The first St. Ann's run was the result of a walk to Joe Elmer and triple from the bat of Bert Barbetta. The latter had two hits in the contest as did Sassi.

FRANKLIN A. C. TROUNCES ST. ANN'S

Franklin A. C. trounced St. Ann's A. A. last evening in a Suburban Softball League game on Memorial Park field. Final count of the one-sided tilt was 18-4.

The winners had 18 safe hits in the contest including home runs by Frank Barbetta and Art Massi and Triples from the bats of Fred Fields and James Brescia. Nick Paoletta, Fred Fields and Anthony Capella had doubles to their credit.

Pacing the 18-hit attack were Fields and Barbetta who had three hits each. The former was up five times while Barbetta stepped to the plate on four official trips. The latter also scored three runs.

"Al" Cicanti started on the hill for St. Ann's and was taken out in the fourth when "Moonie" Denny took over. Neither could silence the bats of the Franklin team, it scoring in every frame.

FLANNERY'S BATTLES WEST BRISTOL TO TIE

The West Bristol team and Flannery's Eagles of Pennell played to another tied score last evening in a Bristol Suburban Baseball League game on Township's field. Score was 5-5.

Neither of the starting pitchers, "Clint" Pursell or Earl Wagner finished the game. Miller relieved Pursell while Wagner was batted out of the box in the second inning and Foster Marsh did excellent work in relief.

"Frankie" Pursell put the finishing touches on Earl Wagner by walloping a home run with two on base after two runs had already been pushed over on a single by Massala, a sacrifice, an error, and fielder's choice.

The West Bristol team tied the game in the last half of the sixth inning. With one run in and Marsh and Heath on base, Jack Haines hit to Schreiber who errored, scoring Marsh. Heath also dashed for the plate and evaded catcher Massala but Umpire Joe Kervick called the runner out for going out of the base line.

No date has been set for the replay of the game.

DESPITE A TRIPLE PLAY, TULLYTOWN LOSES TO 2ND WARD

TULLYTOWN, June 22 — Tullytown A. C. executed the first triple play of the Suburban Softball League last evening but bowed before the mighty pitching of "Chick" Stansky as the Second Ward A. C. topped the Tullytowners, 10-1 on the King Farms field.

Stansky's hurling was just too much for the Tullytown lads as the Burlington youngster had 14 strikeouts and permitted three hits. Stansky fanned the first nine batters to face him. He walked the tenth and then fanned the next three batters. In the fifth, Stan Carlen slapped a hit and had another in the seventh for two of the three Tullytown hits.

The first three-ply killing of the season took place in the third inning. Stefanoni was on second and F. Sagolla on first for Second Ward. Cochrane bounced to Carlen who stepped on third, retiring Stefanoni. Carlen's quick throw to first got the batter and when Sagolla attempted to make third on the base, he was put out. Roy Lynch to Carlen.

In the third inning, Gene Barbetta rapped out a home run with two on base for Second Ward while with two mates aboard in the fifth, Nate Chichilietti smashed out a homer. Cornelius Chichilietti led the batters of the game with three out of three.

Neither of the drivers was injured. The woman and girl were taken to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., by Philadelphia park guards, and di-Lorenzo removed there also by Charles Klinger, of Philadelphia. The two loves were riding in the truck.
